Brett Tennison (8:16 A.M.)
Hi, Lianne and Shruthi. Did you two get the e-mail I sent yesterday?

Lianne Gammon (8:17 A.M.)
About the company video you want to make?

Brett Tennison (8:18 A.M.)
Yes. People want to feel a personal connection to the companies they work with. A video could help potential clients relate better to our team and generate business.

Shruthi Mehta (8:19 A.M.)
I drafted an e-mail in response, but I haven't sent it yet. I wanted to go over it in my mind before sharing.

Lianne Gammon (8:20 A.M.)
I like the idea. We'll have to be creative to get people interested, though.

Shruthi Mehta (8:21 A.M.)
I'm not convinced that a video about us is a good idea. I just work at my computer all day. Who would want to watch that?

Brett Tennison (8:22 A.M.)
That's why I asked for input. We'll want the video to show our personalities as well as what it is that we do. We can hire professionals to edit it. But let's first decide how we want it to be structured and then record it ourselves.

Lianne Gammon (8:23 A.M.)
Why don't we make a few—so that we can reach different audiences? How about a short one to use as a paid ad and a longer one to post on our Web site?

172. Why does Mr. Tennison want to make a video?

(A) To generate new business
(B) To highlight an innovative product
(C) To train employees in a new process
(D) To announce a change in leadership

(A) She needed more time to think about it.
(B) She was too busy with other work.
(C) She believed her input was not needed.
(D) She misunderstood the contents of the e-mail.

174. At 8:21 A.M., what does Ms. Mehta imply when she writes, "I just work at my computer all day"?

(A) She is not satisfied with her job.
(B) She is not qualified to assist potential clients.
(C) She has very few work responsibilities.
(D) She thinks a video about her job would be boring.

(D) Include a company history in it

Questions 176-180 refer to the following advertisement and review.

Coming soon from Meridian Press!
A Life in the Spotlight: The True Story of Ibra Maalim
by Helena Mackay

A Life in the Spotlight is the first biography of Ibra Maalim, who created some of the most memorable characters on the big screen. The son of a politician and a newspaper reporter, Mr. Maalim had originally planned to be an archaeologist. While he was a university student, he had a chance encounter with the director Nina Chen, who cast Mr. Maalim in a small role in her film The Winds of Sorrento. He quickly rose to fame. Over the next 30 years, Mr. Maalim became a household name, regularly appearing in motion pictures in Britain and the United States.

Ms. Mackay is known for giving balanced, objective views of her numerous biographical subjects, and A Life in the Spotlight is no exception. She sheds light on previously unknown details of Mr. Maalim's life, gathered from extensive interviews with his longtime agent. Written in straightforward and accessible prose by an award-winning author, this book explores Mr. Maalim's life beginning with his childhood in India. It is sure to inform and entertain all of his fans.

★★★★☆ A must-read for Maalim fans!

As a longtime fan of Ibra Maalim, I was looking forward to reading A Life in the Spotlight. I was not disappointed. Mackay paints a fascinating portrait of this enigmatic figure. There are dozens of interesting anecdotes about his life on and off set, most of which were told to Mackay in interviews with Alidia Lugo, who knew Maalim well. Mackay reveals Maalim's strengths and shortcomings, making the book more credible. I only have two complaints. The book says almost nothing about his childhood years or his relationships with his fellow University of Leeds students. I also wish there were more than two photographs, especially considering how much Maalim's reputation was based on his photogenic qualities.

Big Strike Lanes: Plenty To Enjoy

16 May

I was very sad when Freeside Bowling shut its doors last year. Rustic, quaint, and run by the same family for three generations, it had the type of charm that only an old establishment can provide. I have many happy memories of good times there.

Then Big Strike Lanes opened a few months ago, and I wondered how it would compare. A few friends and I decided to visit and take advantage of a promotional offer, and I'm happy to say that our experience was better than expected. The bowling was great, and I really enjoyed the virtual reality, which I had never tried before.

At the restaurant, our servers were friendly, and the food was delicious. My only criticism of the place is the location. Big Strike Lanes is situated in a large shopping centre next to a busy motorway, so the surroundings are not exactly inviting.

Minutes of the Special Meeting of the Arlford City Council
14 January

1. Call to Order
Mayor Tremblay called the meeting to order at 6:30 P.M. All members were present.

2. Vote Taken on Resolution No. 2023-167B
The council approved a resolution to earmark $1.5 million for costs related to establishing Winglite Airlines service at the Arlford Regional Airport. The resolution, authorising an adjustment to the Airport Operating Fund, was passed by a vote of 7–0. Winglite Airlines and the city will bear some costs equally. Costs to be split include recruitment and training of additional security and emergency services workers. Other expenses will be covered 100 percent by the city of Arlford. Chief among these is the construction of another lane on Aviation Boulevard to accommodate the expected increase in airport traffic. Work on the boulevard will start immediately so that it will be finished before the airline begins its service.

3. Adjournment
The meeting was adjourned at 7:25 P.M.

Winglite Airlines to Begin Service from Arlford Regional Airport

ARLFORD (18 March)—Darwin-based carrier Winglite Airlines has announced plans to begin nonstop daily flights between Arlford Regional Airport and Cranton. Winglite Airlines is one of several recent start-ups specialising in flying to smaller markets in Australia that are not served by the main airlines. "We look forward to providing the region's residents with affordable, convenient service to Cranton," stated Savita Grewal, public relations director at Winglite Airlines.

According to Ms. Grewal, the airline has scheduled its inaugural flight from Arlford Regional Airport for 1 August. Initially, Winglite will offer two daily flights to Cranton. Additional destinations are being considered for the future, including Eider Bay and West Linport. A decision regarding added routes is expected by 31 December.

Hello, Oliver,

I am interested in sharing the apartment you listed on the Roommate Roundup Web site. I'm looking for a fully furnished space with a private bathroom, and I see that yours has all that plus the bonus of reserved parking. At $850, including utilities, the monthly rent is just within my budget. I agree to give you the required security deposit of one month's rent in advance.

I am quiet, easygoing, and reasonably neat. I work as a flight attendant with Winglite Airlines. I have been assigned to the airline's new route out of Arlford that begins next month. I will be in Arlford only half the time and will stay in a hotel near my destination airport for the rest of the week. That means you would have the apartment to yourself much of the time.

I'm currently in Eider Bay but will be back next week. Could we set a time when I can meet you and look at the apartment?

Many thanks,

Stuart Girard

186. For what activity will Winglite Airlines and the city of Arlford share expenses?

188. When should the Aviation Boulevard project be completed?

(A) By January 14

Review: Forklift Training Classes

By Julie Dye

May 18

I took the forklift training class for recertification for my job at Able Industries last month. I was concerned about taking the course online; however, it covered all the material from the on-site training that I had for my original certification—and more. It was also great that I did not have to travel to take the course and that I received my recertification that very same day! The trainer, Ms. Gogh, was excellent. She answered all my questions and was attuned to the challenges that forklift operators face. My only recommendation for the Forklift Training Academy is that they offer more variety in course days and times.

Dear Ms. Bledstone:

Congratulations on your remarkable success managing the Nick Beats band. I have a proposal for you. Why not have your group's logo made into bumper stickers, roll stickers, paper stickers, or vinyl stickers?

Stickers, or decals, are a great way to promote your band. They are a very affordable product that you can sell to your audiences. You could also give them away after a show. Whether you want to use stickers as giveaways or to make extra cash, Stickers Be Yours has you covered. Our stickers are waterproof and resist fading. They last a long time and will adhere to any surface. You can choose from hundreds of templates or upload your own artwork. For more information, please call me at 863-555-0128 or visit our Web site at stickersbeyours.com.

By the way, I am a personal fan of Matt Grimm. In fact, I play in a band myself, and I try to model my style of playing after his. Please send him my regards, whether or not we do business together.

Sincerely,

Michael Cheung

Dear Mr. Cheung,

Thank you again for the outstanding work you did for Nick Beats. Matt Grimm and the other band members love the stickers, which are selling very well. They received the most comments on the group collage. It really came out beautifully, and we appreciate your help with it. Lorraine Farina, who did the original photography, thinks you could have a second career in graphic art!

We still have plenty of them left from our first order, but I do need 500 more of item 1056.

Gratefully,

Janice Bledstone
